

The first system of the musical score consists of two staves. The treble staff contains four measures of music with notes in red, green, and brown, and rests labeled 'A'. The bass staff contains four measures with notes in blue, yellow, red, and black, and rests labeled 'A'. The notes are represented by colored rectangles with stems, and rests are labeled 'A' in a box.

Zoek eerst het Koninkrijk

The second system of the musical score continues the melody and accompaniment. The treble staff contains four measures with notes in red, green, and brown, and rests labeled 'A'. The bass staff contains four measures with notes in blue, red, and black, and rests labeled 'A'. The notes are represented by colored rectangles with stems, and rests are labeled 'A' in a box.

The first system of the musical score consists of two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef and contains four measures. The first measure has a black bar on the bottom and a cyan bar on top, with a red dot above the bar. The second measure has a yellow bar on top and a cyan bar on the bottom, with a red dot above the bar and the letter 'A' below. The third measure has a black bar on top and a red bar on the bottom, with two 'A's and a slur above. The fourth measure has a black bar on top and a red bar on the bottom, with two 'A's and a slur above. The lower staff is in bass clef and contains four measures. The first measure has a black bar on the bottom and a cyan bar on top, with two black dots above. The second measure has a cyan bar on top and a red bar on the bottom, with two black dots above. The third measure has a red bar on top and a green bar on the bottom, with two black dots above. The fourth measure has a red bar on top and a black bar on the bottom, with two black dots above.

The second system of the musical score consists of two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef and contains four measures. The first measure has a black bar on the bottom and a cyan bar on top, with a red dot above the bar. The second measure has a yellow bar on top and a cyan bar on the bottom, with a red dot above the bar and the letter 'A' below. The third measure has a black bar on top and a red bar on the bottom, with two 'A's and a slur above. The fourth measure has a black bar on top and a red bar on the bottom, with two 'A's and a slur above. The lower staff is in bass clef and contains four measures. The first measure has a black bar on the bottom and a cyan bar on top, with two black dots above. The second measure has a cyan bar on top and a red bar on the bottom, with two black dots above. The third measure has a red bar on top and a green bar on the bottom, with two black dots above. The fourth measure has a red bar on top and a black bar on the bottom, with two black dots above.